Book of Lists: A key tool for your business

Part of our mission at the Northern Colorado Business Report is to provide valuable information tools to help you compete. Over the past 15 years, the Book of Lists has become what many tell us is an indispensable tool for doing business in our region. In fact, it's one of our best-selling tools! I hope that you get a chance to thoroughly go through this book and see why.

No other news source delivers more data about Northern Colorado businesses than we do via our lists. Readers tell us they refer to them repeatedly as a way to stay up-to-date on who's new, who's gone, and what's changed in the markets that are important to them.

Please remember as you peruse these lists that they are a snapshot in time; the lists on these pages were reported and published throughout the past year and may not reflect changes since their original publication date. For your convenience, we include that date at the top of each list.

You will notice that we have redesigned our lists to reflect a much cleaner look. Moreover, this new design creates the opportunity for our news staff to add new twists. Examples of this can be seen on pages 40, 54, 115 and 128.

Also highlighted on these pages are photographs from a few of our events over this past year: Bravo! Entrepreneur, Mercury 100, Women of Distinction and the CFO Awards.

I want to thank chief researcher Mariah Gant for the incredible job she has done researching the lists in this Book of Lists. Mariah would welcome any feedback you may have on the lists. Contact her at 970-221-5400, ext. 121, or via email at mgant@ncbr.com, to suggest a new company, to find out how to submit an update or to recommend a new list for us to research in the coming year.

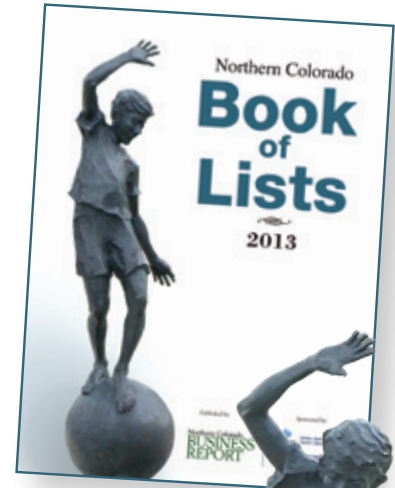

I would also like to thank the entire staff of NCBR for their work on The Book of Lists.

Don't forget that you can download all our data at www.ncbr.com. Just click on the NCBR Data Store. Also, you can check out our digital version of the Book of Lists at www.ncbr.com/section/publications.

Finally, a sincere thank-you to all of our sponsors — Banner Health, Community Banks of Colorado — and our advertisers who are part of this year's Book of Lists. I toast your marketing wisdom!

Hiring slowly resumes at largest area law firms

BY MOLLY ARMBRISTER
marmbrister@ncbr.com

Though they added lawyers to their staffs, the rankings at the very top of the Business Report's list of the largest area law firms remained unchanged this year, with Otis, Coan and Peters and Fischer, Brown Bartlett and Gunn holding onto their respective first and second place spots.

On the other hand, Cochran, Freund and Young gained two new attorneys, moving it up the list from No. 6 to No. 3.

The firm formerly known as Allen, Vahrenwald and Johnson held its place at No. 5 with seven attorneys on staff, but has changed its name to Vahrenwald, Johnson and McMahon. Bill Allen, after whom the firm was formerly named, passed away in 1990, but the firm kept his name out of respect. Only this year did the partners decide to change the firm name and add Brian McMahon to the list, a veteran of the firm.

While law firms in Denver and other large cities underwent a year of acquisitions and mergers, Northern Colorado law firms remained mostly independent, according to local counselors.

Law firms are also hiring again, with the top five firms employing an additional 10 people combined from April 2011 to today. Three of the top five expect to hire more people in the coming year.

Like other businesses in Northern Colorado, the firms say they are poised for a slow, steady economic comeback. And as the economy recovers, more deals will be made and more businesses will expand, creating more need for legal services.

Architecture firms hiring once more

marmbrister@ncbr.com

The number of registered architects on our list has grown substantially since last year, from 48 in 2011 to 61 in 2012, quite a jump considering that the number grew by just one in 2010.

When commercial real estate took a turn for the worse during the recession, architects took a big hit.

Like so many others, the architecture firms in Northern Colorado did some restructuring. Layoffs were part of that and some firms disappeared altogether. But eight of the 12 companies on this year's list were also on the 2011 list, underscoring, if anything, their resiliency.

One notable change is reflected in the merger of two of last year's firms, VFR Design Inc. and JCL Architecture Inc. Last June, the two brought all of their skills under one roof, creating Vaught Frye Larson Architects, No. 4 on this year's list with four registered architects and 12 employees total.

The No. 1 firm on this year's list was The Neenan Company, with 17 architects. It displaced last year's top-ranked firm, RB+B Architects Inc., but is new to the list, it appears, only because Neenan was overlooked in the research for the 2011 list.

Sustainable | Integrated | Innovative

Since 1986, Aller-Lingle-Massey Architects, P.C. has exceeded our client's expectations in designing creative, visually engaging architecture for both private and public clients.

Our design for the pavilion at Ruby Hill Park is our most recent example. The City and County of Denver Parks and Recreation Department charged us with creating a "signature" pavilion as the centerpiece of the redeveloped park. The result is both functional and beautiful, capturing the spirit of the park theme developed by Russell+Mills Studios as well as the stunning 360° views of Denver.

Beginnings

Founded in 1952, GH Phipps Construction Companies celebrates its 60th anniversary this year.

Gerald Phipps' uncle, Platt Rogers, opened a construction company in Pueblo in 1923. In 1946, when he decided to expand to Denver, he asked Gerry to manage the operation. Two years later, the company built Bears Stadium.

In 1952, Gerry and his wife bought out his uncle and named the company Gerald H. Phipps, Inc.

1952-1961

The post-World War II building boom and a network of community contacts lead Gerald H. Phipps to form his own firm, after years of work with his uncle, Platt Rogers. Gerald H. Phipps Inc. becomes a player in the regional construction business, setting the course to build high-profile civic and commercial projects.

Bears Stadium was constructed in 1948, but became a two-sport field with the later addition of demountable south stands and moveable east stands.

In the '60s, Phipps forms long-term partnerships resulting in repeat clients and pioneers the Construction Management/General Contractor concept in Colorado. A Colorado Springs office opens in 1960. Gerald Phipps' role as an owner of the Denver Broncos and Denver Bears boosts the firm's reputation; the Phipps brothers later buy the Broncos, keeping them in Denver.

Communications, higher education and healthcare projects requiring experienced concrete work become key elements of the Phipps portfolio. Even in a tough economy, the tradition continues of winning jobs that serve the community while maintaining a close-knit, family-oriented company. Denver's Orange Crush era takes over in the form of the Broncos' trip to the 1977 Super Bowl.

As with the rest of life, projects go high tech, and Phipps becomes successful securing complex communications, healthcare, and laboratory work, even while facing the challenges of the Colorado oil bust. In the workplace, Phipps begins a formal safety program that wins awards – and client confidence. In 1981, the Phipps brothers sell the Denver Broncos. Four years later, Gerry is inducted into the team's Ring of Fame.

Gerald H. Phipps' regard for his company and staff becomes evident upon his death, as he transfers the company's assets to a profit-sharing trust. As an employee-owned business, Phipps begins a new era built on a strong foundation, with the development of special projects, concrete and design-build groups.

Innovative strategies become part of Phipps' construction approach, including Building Information Technology, Integrated Project Design, and Lean Construction practices. The company leaves its old headquarters in Denver, moving to a LEED™ CI Silver certified building in Greenwood Village. In 2007, the firm rebrands to GH Phipps to compete in the 21st century.

National recognition. Local address.

There are 4,873 hospitals in America. But only a few get recognized for excellence. Only a handful are distinguished for patient care that's above and beyond. Wouldn't it be great if you had access to one of these special places? You do. North Colorado Medical Center and McKee Medical Center have received the 2012 Emergency Medicine Excellence Award™ and the 2012 Distinguished Hospital Award for Clinical Excellence™ by HealthGrades®. When it comes to your family's health care provider, you need to steer the wheel.

Don't go blindly where the steering wheel takes you.

OUR patient-provider relationship is important.

Don't Lose Your Doctor!

Things to consider before switching your insurance to an HMO or other closed networks, like Kaiser Permanente:

- 1 You may not be able to continue seeing your doctor. Some HMO's only allow patients to see physicians who are part of a limited provider network of their choosing.
- 2 You may not have a choice of hospitals.
- 3 You may not be able to visit your usual Urgent Care clinic. Many of the local surgery centers will be affected also.
- 4 Your choice of specialists may be restricted. Some HMO's only allow patients to see specialty physicians who are part of a limited provider network. Check your insurance plan provider network to determine if your specialist is in plan.
- 5 Talk to your doctor about your plan before you change.

Health care dominates

BY MOLLY ARMBRISTER

marmbrister@ncbr.com

The top three employers on the Business Report's list of the largest private-sector companies are health care providers, underscoring the hiring power of health care systems in Northern Colorado.

The combined ranks of Poudre Valley Health System, Banner Health Western Region and Columbine Health Systems add up to 10,910 employees, more than the other 22 companies on the list put together, which employ a total of 9,312 people.

All three of these companies continue to expand and gain recognition for what they do, racking up awards for patient care and adding new technologies to their arsenals.

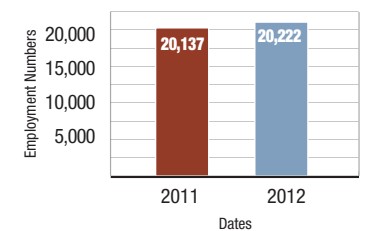

The two hospital systems both have big plans for 2012.

PVHS has partnered with University of Colorado Hospital to create a new entity, University of Colorado Health. Pending a vote by the residents of Colorado Springs, the partners could soon lease Memorial Health System, creating a health network spanning the Front Range.

Banner Health has partnered with health care giant Kaiser Permanente, which will establish two medical offices in Northern Colorado by the end of the year, adding even more health care jobs.

2011 vs. 2012 employment of top 25 companies

Total employment numbers for the 25 companies listed here have increased by 85 year-over-year.

2012 health care employment vs. non-health care employment

Health care companies employ approximately 4,000 more people than all the other industries combined.

Note: Companies included in health care calculation, Poudre Valley Health System, Banner Health Western Region, Columbine Health Systems, Platte Valley Medical Center, Good Samaritan Society and Northern Colorado Rehabilitation Hospital

By the numbers

Women own businesses in just about every industry, bringing in millions in revenue and creating nearly 1,200 jobs across Northern Colorado.

Companies on the list range from young, like Tax Specialists of Northern Colorado, founded in 2011, to those that have been around for decades, like Gray Oil Co., founded in 1937.

Some have just one employee on the payroll, a lone woman wearing every hat in the company, while others, like brewing giant New Belgium Brewing, employ hundreds.

They provide services that range from office cleaning to landscape architecture, and in order to be included on our list must be at least 51 percent owned by women.
