PROTECT YOUR BOOK OF LISTS FROM THEFT, ABUSE

Tattered, highlighted and, yes, often stolen. That's the inevitable fate of the publication you hold in your hands.

The Book of Lists, published by BizWest Media LLC, is used as a reference throughout the year, causing wear and tear, and potentially theft as co-workers snag your precious copy.

Why the fuss? The BOL represents a special edition of our monthly business journal and provides a wealth of information on thousands of companies and individuals in the Boulder Valley and Northern Colorado.

It's a source for tracking your competition, with rankings of companies in dozens of industries, providing a way to see how your business stacks up with others in your industry.

It's a source for information on potential vendors, comparing them with their own competitors, identifying key contacts, etc.

It's packed with leads on potential employers. What better resource could you find than a publication that identifies thousands of companies by number of employees, revenue or some other factor?

It reveals the fastest-growing private companies in the region, with our Mercury 100 lists, ranking companies by two-year revenue growth.

BizWest's research team works hard to produce this data throughout the year, updating addresses, key contacts, revenue, employee numbers and many other data points. These updates take into account companies that have added workers or reduced their workforce, moved to a new location, changed their name, etc.

Our lists range from the banking sector to health care, technology to business services, and many others.

Look for lists on the largest private offerings, including data on companies that filed Form Ds with the U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission during 2019, as well as the top grants awarded through the federal Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer programs.

The Book of Lists represents a year-long research effort and includes many lists with combined rankings for Boulder, Broomfield, Larimer and Weld counties. In some cases, however, we've opted to publish separate lists for the Boulder Valley and Northern Colorado.

The Book of Lists compiles all of the lists that have been published in our paper in 2019, along with some that were newly researched or updated for this edition. Listings include addresses, phone numbers, key contacts, descriptions of products and services, revenues and employment.

Readers can also view the Book of Lists online, using our digital edition, or purchase the data in comma-delimited format.

HEALTH CARE

The Future Of Inpatient Hospice In Northern Colorado

Those of us who work in hospice often say that hospice is not a place, but rather an approach to care that travels to wherever our patients live. Hospice team members can visit as frequently as daily if needed, but sometimes patients experience a symptom crisis that needs more intensive management in an inpatient setting. This level of hospice care is referred to as General Inpatient, or "GIP".

GIP can be provided in skilled nursing facilities (SNFs) or in hospitals that contract with hospices to do so, and some hospices have their own inpatient units. For nearly 19 years, Pathways has leased a 6-bed inpatient unit known as Pathways Hospice Care Center (PHCC) from McKee Medical Center in Loveland. While we are proud of the excellent care we have provided to thousands of patients and families at PHCC and are grateful for the close collaboration with our colleagues at McKee, this 6-bed unit is simply too small to sustainably meet the community's growing need for inpatient hospice care. Last year there were many days when every bed at PHCC was full, with additional patients queued up waiting for a bed. We believe the words "hospice" and "waitlist" should never be in the same sentence.

The Colorado State Demographer predicts that the population of Northern Colorado will more than double by 2050. Over the next 20 years, in Larimer County alone, the population of those age 65 and older will grow by 140 percent. We have already seen the impact of this growth as the number of patients we care for each year has been growing consistently by 10 - 15 percent annually.

The need for Northern Colorado to have a freestanding inpatient care center is clear. The time to build it is now.

Pathways is in the advanced planning stages to build a homelike Inpatient Care Center (ICC) on our 3-acre campus a few miles west of I-25 on Highway 392, centrally located within Larimer and Weld Counties. The Pathways ICC will provide the highest level of care in a tranquil, beautiful space intentionally built for this purpose. We are grateful for our continued partnership with McKee Medical Center and will continue to operate PHCC throughout the design and construction of the new building.

Every one of the 12 rooms (with room to expand in the future) will be large enough to accommodate groups of visitors and allow loved ones to comfortably stay overnight. There will be access to outdoor garden spaces where even bedbound patients will be able to enjoy the outdoors from the comfort of their own bed. We will have a spacious lobby; a welcoming chapel; spaces for quiet reflection; a large communal kitchen and dining area; and much more.

PAYROLL & WORKFORCE SERVICES

2020 Revised Form W-4 – Are You Ready?

When you hire an employee who starts in 2020, you must give them the newly designed Form W-4, which is less complex, more transparent, and makes it easier for your employees' withholding to match their tax liability. The new form has been renamed Employee's Withholding Certificate, removing the word "Allowances" from the title. Withholding Allowances have been removed from the form because the change in tax law no longer allows claiming personal or dependency exemptions.

Current employees do not need to fill out a new form with their existing employers. Only new hires need to fill out the new form. However, if a current employee wants to update their withholding, they must fill out one of the newly designed Forms W-4.

New Steps 2-4 are used to calculate correct withholding:

- Step 2 - Report additional jobs or other income - tax rates rise as income rises. There are three different options in Step 2: Use the online app from the IRS to estimate withholdings; use a worksheet to estimate withholdings; or check a box to state you have 2 jobs. If you have a side job, you'll need to pay self-employment taxes. Thus you should make estimated tax payments or use the withholding tax estimator on the IRS website to see how much extra to add to your W-4 withholdings.
- Step 3 - Decrease your withholding for income tax credits for dependents.
- Step 4 - If you want a bigger refund, enter the amount of extra withholding in 4c or Step 2c.

New employees who fail to submit a Form W-4 after 2019 will be treated as single filers with no other adjustments. As an employer, if you decide to have all employees fill out new Form W-4s, you must let them know that it's not necessary to complete the new form. There will not be separate payroll tax tables for the different W-4s as the tables will work with both the old and new forms. For more complex tax situations, employees can check their withholding at <https://www.irs.gov/paycheck-checkup>.

At Payroll Vault, we keep our employers compliant with ever-changing laws and provide them with the latest forms. If you would like to work with a dedicated payroll specialist who keeps up with tax and labor law, contact us at payroll101@payrollvault.com or call 970-682-6603.

LAW

Protecting Limited Liability For Your Business

Most people think that when they form a limited liability company or corporation, their personal assets are automatically shielded from business liabilities. While this is generally true, Colorado law provides an exception to this rule, and you could find yourself on the hook personally for business liabilities. This exception is called "alter ego" liability or "piercing the corporate veil." Under this exception, Colorado courts have the power to set aside limited liability protection for a business and hold a company's owners personally liable for the actions or debts of the company, which could spell disaster for business owners.

Some of the factors courts look at when deciding whether to pierce the corporate veil are whether funds are commingled between the business and its owner(s), whether adequate corporate records are maintained (such as keeping meeting minutes and proper governance documents), whether legal formalities are observed, and whether business assets are used for non-business purposes. There are many other factors considered by courts in determining whether to set aside the limited liability shield of a business, and these are only a few. If a court finds that a business did not meet some of those factors, it can determine that the company is the "alter ego" of its owner, and impose liability on a business owner for all the debts and liabilities belonging to the business.

While alter ego liability is every business owner's worst nightmare, the good news is that business owners can take steps to protect themselves and their personal assets. Working closely with an attorney and an accountant can ensure that the books and records for the business are adequately kept, which can prevent a finding of alter ego liability by a court. A small amount of routine diligence in running your business could save you from losing everything.
