PUBLISHER'S NOTEBC Book of Lists adds features, updated company data elcome to the ultimate business tool. Readers of the Boulder County Business Report's 2010 Book of Lists hold in their hands one of the best possible resources for intelligence on the Boulder Valley business scene.

Thanks to the diligent efforts of Research Director Beth Edwards and researcher Carol Maskus, the Book of Lists once again provides data on thousands of companies from Boulder and Broomfield counties, including key contacts, address, phone, fax, products and services, number of employees and revenue.

As always, lists are organized by category, and most lists appeared during 2009 in the pages of the Business Report.

We've added some exciting new features to the Book of Lists this year, including a comprehensive index of companies featured. Just visit the back of the book to search alphabetically for a company, and you'll be guided to each list in which the company is featured. We believe this tool will make the Book of Lists an even more powerful resource.

Additionally, this edition features listings of past winners of Business Report awards, including the IQ Awards, Health-Care Heroes and Eco-Heroes. We've also included photos of the 100-plus participants in our CEO Roundtable gatherings during 2009. And, just this once, we're including lists of the Golden Companies and Silver Companies featured in our Icons of Boulder section in early 2009 to honor the city of Boulder's Sesquicentennial.

Thank you to our cover sponsors, including Flatirons Bank, Premier Members Federal Credit Union, UBS Financial Services Inc. and Vectra Bank Colorado.

I also want to thank the Business Report editorial, advertising and production staffs for their hard work assembling this publication.
