Welcome

to Greeley - We're glad you're here!

Christopher L. Wood
Chair, Board of Directors
Greeley Chamber of Commerce

We're right in the center of all the exciting things that happen in Colorado. Where else can you snow ski on Saturday and play golf on Sunday? We're just an hour away from Rocky Mountain National Park in one direction and Denver in another.

You'll find plenty to see and do right here in Greeley. Spend the afternoon enjoying one of our many parks (Sports Illustrated Magazine selected Greeley as one of the best park/recreation programs in the nation), playing a round of golf, or skating at the Ice Haus. Take in a show at the Union Colony Civic Center — a beautiful venue for both local talent and national touring companies.

How about attending one of our seasonal festivals and events? Attend the largest 4th of July rodeo in the nation, the Greeley Independence Stampede, which includes several nights of PRCA rodeos, plus a carnival, demolition derby, night show performances by some of the best CMA award-winning artists, and the traditional July 4th parade. Perhaps you would prefer to browse the sensational artwork and crafts at the 29th Annual Greeley Arts Picnic, the last weekend of July. If it's food and culture you enjoy, don't miss our city's annual Cinco de Mayo celebration.

As a Chamber, we are most proud of our business community. We have a wonderfully diverse membership, made up of both large corporations and small locally owned businesses. Over the past several years, the growth in our community has sparked a new level of enthusiasm and energy among our members. We have great expectations for our city, and our community leaders enthusiastically address the opportunities that lie before us.

Our people are very proud of the quality of life that makes up our community, and they're not shy about sharing that feeling with visitors and residents alike. Greeley and the surrounding northern Colorado communities have been listed among the fastest-growing areas in the nation. Over the past several years, this area has consistently ranked as one of the best places in the country to live and conduct business.

Weld County population stands at 238,320 (2006-state of Colorado estimates) and 90,000+ residents call Greeley home. The Greeley area is the center of growing commercial activity. Agriculture, manufacturing, retail trades, education, recreation and development provide a strong and diversified economy.

This 2008 Chamber Business Referral Guide is dedicated to the many businesses that contribute the volunteer and financial support necessary to create a vibrant, positive business climate and a high quality of life for those who live and work here. This Guide provides information about the many products and services offered to our diverse membership. We urge you to keep this valuable resource at hand, and support our member businesses.

If you're looking for a great place to live, visit or explore, look no further. Welcome to Greeley!

Welcome to the Historic Union Pacific Railroad Depot, home to the Greeley Chamber of Commerce!

Chamber offices, 902 7th Avenue

From its early days as a bustling passenger depot, to the present-day home of the Greeley Chamber of Commerce and Small Business Development Center, the Historic Union Pacific Railroad Depot has been an important Greeley landmark. It was designed by architect Gilbert Stanley Underwood in a modern classical style and built in 1930 at a cost of about $80,000. Underwood was best known for his work designing rustic-style buildings in Yosemite and Grand Canyon National Parks, as well as design work on several other passenger depots in the United States.

The depot was heavily used for railroad passengers, but the demand for rail service around the nation and in Greeley declined, especially after World War II, due to an increase in air travel and automobile use. After closing its doors in 1983, the depot stood vacant for eight years. It was then purchased by the City of Greeley, placed on the National Register of Historic Places and leased to the Chamber of Commerce.

Renovation began in 1996 with Howard Johnson as the architect heading up the project. Lockhart and Growing Bear Constructors remodeled the building, staying true to its design and preserving much of the depot's original interior beauty.

The depot still boasts the original oak drawers and cabinets as well as the wrought-iron ticket counter. Visitors to the building can appreciate the beautiful stenciled designs of foxes, birds, stars, quatrefoils, repetitive diamond patterns and the Union Pacific shield. The depot is a well-preserved example of railroad-related architecture, built during the twilight years of the passenger-service era, and still in use today as an important part of the community.

It focuses on building community understanding of the value of agriculture to the Greeley area. The committee meets the first Tuesday of each month at noon.

Mike Reisman

The Better Schools Better Communities committee forms partnerships between area businesses/community organizations and Greeley-area schools that promote participation and volunteerism within individual schools. Committee members act as liaisons between partners, track and report on partnership projects, and plan the annual awards banquet. Better Schools Better Communities meets the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 a.m.

René Gonzalez

The Community Inclusion Committee works to help area businesses become more inclusive in their business practices. By doing so, the business community can take a lead role in emphasizing the importance, as well as the advantages, of embracing diverse cultures within our area. The committee brings educational resources to Chamber membership via speakers and seminars. Committee meetings take place as needed to plan programs.

Leadership Weld County is dedicated to ensuring continuity of knowledge for effective future leadership. By broadening participants' knowledge of the community through monthly full-day classes, LWC prepares the participants on a wide range of opportunities and challenges facing the community. Class session planning is coordinated by the Leadership Weld County Advisory Board, which meets on the third Tuesday of each month at noon.

Jamie Wood

In much the same way, Junior Leadership Weld County stirs the interest of future leaders – currently in middle school. Each year, eighth graders from Greeley schools attend five monthly sessions to give them a brief taste of the complex community in which they live. The JLWC board meets on the second Monday of each month.

...Providing Networking Opportunities

Ambassadors are volunteer business professionals who represent the Greeley Chamber of Commerce as our public relations team. The Ambassadors encourage communication and participation by visiting member businesses, and invite Chamber members to get directly involved in the Greeley Chamber's programs. The Ambassadors meet the fourth Wednesday of each month at 11:30 a.m.

Leads Groups are designed to help businesses develop future prospects and referrals by networking with one another as a team. While the Chamber provides general guidelines for each group, the groups themselves decide specific guidelines governing each group. Leads groups consist of only one individual from a specific industry, and can include up to 25 participants.

The Chamber's traditional networking events continue on a monthly basis. During Business Before Hours, businesses have an opportunity to speak to everyone in attendance about their business. After Hours features less structure and more informal networking.

Taking the lead in community branding

With the introduction and adoption of a new brand and logo for Greeley, the Chamber provides support and guidance for the implementation of branding projects throughout the city. to use the Greeley brand in their own promotion via the Chamber's website or by contacting the Brand Manager at the Chamber. In addition, the work of branding subcommittees focused on Community Image and Tourism, Youth and Education, and Business and Economic Development, takes place with the assistance of Chamber and Convention & Visitors Bureau staff.

*North Colorado Medical Center is a Spirit of Women hospital.
Banner Health is a leading provider of nonprofit health care in northern Colorado.*

The Greeley area is fortunate to have an excellent array and quality of healthcare options. Certainly the most visible of all facilities and services is North Colorado Medical Center, a 398-bed, acute-care regional facility providing advanced diagnostic medical and surgical services to a population service area of more than 382,000, including northeastern Colorado, southern Wyoming, western Nebraska and western Kansas. Specialized services provided by the Medical Center include a comprehensive cardiovascular program; the Monfort Family Birth Center with a Level II neonatal intensive care unit; North Colorado Med Evac emergency helicopter transport; Western States Burn Center; comprehensive Cancer Institute; Level II trauma-designated Emergency Department; and ortho/neuroscience services. NCMC is also a teaching facility where scores of physicians and nursing students are trained each year.

Nearly every medical specialty is represented in our physician community, making Greeley a regional health care hub. In addition, our city enjoys a wealth of providers in adjunct and alternative services.

Weld County is one of 40 communities in 7 states receiving federal funds for 5 years through the Steps to a Healthier US initiative. The goal of the grant is to implement chronic disease prevention efforts focused on reducing the burden of diabetes, obesity, and asthma. Steps addresses three related risk factors — physical inactivity, poor nutrition, and tobacco use through specific goals and objectives. Accomplishing these goals and objectives will help Weld County residents recognize that small changes in their lifestyle can produce dramatic results over time including living longer and healthier lives. A number of businesses and organizations within Greeley are participating in this effort as a part of the Well Cities program.

Workforce Information

Weld County's workforce is reported at nearly 120,000, but that figure tells just part of the story. Due to good highway access, workers routinely commute throughout the area, suggesting that the actual labor shed available to employers is significantly larger. Unemployment normally hovers at 4% or below. Our workforce is estimated to be approximately 30% Hispanic, providing employers access to a bi-lingual workforce.
