PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Use 'Law Directory' to find attorney to fill business, personal needs

Christopher Wood

Few industries permeate every aspect of business like the legal profession. Every individual and business owner requires the services of an attorney at some time in their lives, and it's wise to consult with qualified legal representatives whenever you face a critical personal or business decision.

It's for those reasons that the Boulder County Business Report is proud to present the first Law Directory for Boulder and Broomfield counties. Produced in cooperation with the Boulder County Bar Association, the Law Directory includes most of the attorneys in our two counties, with areas of specialty for individual lawyers and with complete listings for their firms.

Need to find an attorney to help with your corporate filings? The Law Directory has a wealth of individuals who can assist you. Is it time to update your will? Look no further than these pages.

Thank you to our advertisers, and to our Sales Manager, Kim Oremus for helping make this project a reality. I'm particularly grateful to our research staff, including Research Director Beth Edwards and researcher Carol Maskus, for their hard working assembling this information. If your law firm's listing was omitted, incorrect or incomplete, please contact Beth at bedwards@bcbr.com, and we'll be sure to include you next time.

As with all of our research-oriented products, the Law Directory is available for download at www.bcbr.com, using our online DataBank.

I hope you find this to be a valuable resource as you seek legal representation.
