PUBLISHER'S LETTER

2008 Book of Lists your best resource to leading businesses in Boulder Valley

We're starting out the new year with our largest Book of Lists, and getting it in your hands earlier than ever.

Our new Book of Lists now has 103 different business lists, and we shipped it off to the printer just before Christmas in order to get it on your business desk first thing in January.

Our 2008 Book of Lists continues to be the largest, single source of data on businesses in Boulder and Broomfield counties sent to every paid subscriber of the Business Report. Additional copies also are for sale at our office, and all data is now available online through DataBank (read more below.)

We're also continuing our 2008 Community Calendar, highlighting dates for the largest business events and nonprofit fundraisers (as well as CU home football games) – a valuable resource to plan your own community activities and avoid conflicts. Please continue to enter all of your business or nonprofit events and any new dates in our online calendar at www.BCBBR.com, and use it throughout the year.

We want to thank The Community Foundation Serving Boulder County, Roche Colorado, Crispin Porter + Bogusky and Guarantee Bank for sponsoring this community resource.

We also want to thank our Book of Lists cover sponsors: Clifton Gunderson LLP, Colorado Group, Dean Callan & Company, Lathrop & Gage, Mile High Banks, Vectra Bank, Wells Fargo and University of Colorado Division of Continuing Education.

Gathering business data is a year-round effort by our Business Report Research Department. And, of course, data ranging from company names to addresses to personnel change quickly. Information for the Book of Lists was researched and published throughout 2007. While we've updated some major changes in the Book of Lists, rankings for the most part remain as they were first published.

If your business would like to submit changes or corrections, please e-mail those to Research Director Beth Edwards at research@bcbr.com or call her at 303-440-4950.

DataBank: Build your own business lists online

Thousands of individual businesses and hundreds of lists of local business categories continue to be available in DataBank, the Boulder County Business Report's online resource of business data for Boulder and Broomfield counties.

With a subscription to DataBank, your company can do its own research, then purchase and download any list in convenient spreadsheets. The Business Report's archives of past stories also are available now for free in DataBank.

All lists from our 2008 Book of Lists and additional lists from previous years are available. Businesses also can find thousands of companies we've researched for our Tech/Manufacturers Directory, MD Medical and Wellness Directory, Blueprints Construction Directory and our new Green Book.

DataBank is easy. Go to our Web site, www.BCBBR.com, and click on DataBank. Once you're in, you'll find several subscription options. Explore DataBank for a single day for only $9. Buy an annual subscription for only $79, and you'll soon be using DataBank every day. Individual record downloads then are purchased for just 15 cents each. By purchasing our premium-level annual subscription for $495, you can access all data with no charge for downloads.

DataBank covers companies in Boulder and Broomfield counties, but visit our sister newspapers at www.NCBBR.com for DataBank on Northern Colorado and the fast-growing north I-25 Corridor or go to www.WyomingBusinessReport.com for DataBank from the entire state of Wyoming.

With DataBank, the vault's always open. Withdraw as much data as you want, any time you want.

Elevations Credit Union Turns a Mortgage in 72 Hours, Saves a Deal

Grace Porritt found herself in a bit of a fix. It was Friday afternoon. "I had a closing set up for the following week to buy a house," she said. "All of the paperwork was in. I had a verbal approval." Then her lender bailed on her at the last minute. They were one of those companies that got caught up in the mortgage crisis. Now what?

"First thing Monday morning I stopped in at Elevations Credit Union," Grace said. "I had other accounts with them, but I had never considered them for a mortgage. I met with Scott Summers in the mortgage department."

Scott said, "Her lender got cold feet. We picked up the ball and ran with it. She applied on Monday and within 24 hours we had her loan approved. Within 2 days we had all of her required documents completed. And on the third day we closed."

Grace's agent, Debra E Hensen from ERA Tradewind Real Estate, commented, "I was really impressed with how quickly Elevations Credit Union put it together! That was by far the fastest I had seen a mortgage done. The deal went through without a hitch. Scott showed up at the table for the closing. That was great. There was no delay in funds. He took a stressful situation and came through."

Grace said, "The customer service was outstanding at Elevations Credit Union. They were super-fast. Scott knew the situation we were in. The couple we were closing with had another closing that was dependent on ours, so it was critical. Our backs were against the wall. The whole deal would have fallen through without Elevations."

Debra added, "Another deal was dependent on this as well. So it was definitely a domino effect if this didn't happen."

"It's a team effort within the mortgage department," Scott said. "We're all here working in close proximity to each other, which makes it very easy to communicate with each other."

"Because our underwriting and closing staff are here on site, we can respond very quickly," said Linda Cooper, Real Estate Lending Manager.

Family ties hold Control Service Center together

Strouses keep business running smoothly after co-founder dies of cancer

BY KEELY BROWN
Business Report Correspondent

BOULDER — Twenty-five years ago, brothers Rick and Jim Strouse launched a startup business in Boulder. This year, one of those brothers passed away, and his son stepped in to help carry on the family business.

This scenario epitomizes the strength and endurance not only of a business — but also a family. Originally from Kansas, Rick Strouse, who died in March of cancer, first saw Boulder when he drove through on his way to Alaska for a second honeymoon trip with his wife, Lucy. Attracted to the area, they came back through and settled here. Rick began working as building maintenance.

Encouraged by his colleagues, Rick decided to start a commercial heating and air conditioning service, and in 1981 he founded Control Service Center. He immediately sent for Jim, his younger brother in Kansas. "I was fresh out of high school," recalled Jim Strouse, who came to join his brother in 1982.

The two, along with business partner Robert Forben, opened their first office in the basement of a nine-story building in Boulder. "It was the classic hole in the wall with no windows," Jim recalled. "We bankrolled it by the seat of our pants with small-business loans. My mother helped subsidize the company to get me out of the house. Rick was such a great financial business planner that we were able to do this without going into any debt."

Twenty-five years later, the business occupies a 15,000-square-foot building on Pearl Street. With a staff of 15, Control Service Center provides commercial heating and air conditioning service and repair for 200 clients throughout Boulder County.

Jim Strouse said the company has experienced at least a 10 percent revenue increase each year, with annual gross revenues reaching about $2.5 million. Much of the success of the family-owned and operated business, Jim said, is due to Rick.

"There were some slow times in the early 1990s, and it caused some strain on us," Jim said. "We couldn't both be away from the company at the same time. It's a testament to what a good person Rick was, to rise above those things and put our differences aside. After work we would still have dinner or spend the weekends together. We were really close."

Strouse said some of that closeness may have been because in a family of 11 children, there were only three brothers, and they bonded with each other early on.

"We shared a bedroom our whole childhood," Strouse said. "Rick was seven years older than me, so he took care of me a lot."

When Brandon, Rick's oldest son, reached high school, he began to take an interest in the business, and the two brothers hired him to

Jim Strouse, right, president of Control Service Center, works with his nephew Brandon Strouse at the heating and air conditioning maintenance and repair shop in Boulder. come in and help out every summer.

In 2004, this family closeness received a devastating blow when Rick was diagnosed with metastatic cancer.

"He realized that the prognosis wasn't going to be good, and it was so hard for him," Strouse said. "He loved running this business — he was so proud of it. For the next couple of years, we talked about Brandon coming in as a full-time employee and becoming a partner."

"Rick stayed on until the bitter end and worked until August 2006. After that, he spent as much time as possible with his family — he knew the end was coming." Before he left the company, Rick Strouse made plans for Jim to succeed him as the company's president and Brandon to come in full time as service manager.

"He was such a great husband and father. He was also a great businessperson," Jim Strouse said. "He had everything set up so well, so that we could continue on without missing a beat — which says a lot for him."

Rick passed away in March at age 52. A month before his death, Brandon started full time at the company.

"The family involvement doesn't end there. Brandon's 19-year-old brother Kyle is expressing an interest in the business, and this summer he is working part time to try his hand at it."

"We fully intend to keep a family-run business so we can maintain a high standard of quality for our customers," Strouse said. "With Brandon here... we want to continue to improve our quality and strive for 100 percent customer satisfaction. That's our most important goal."

Focus: Million-Dollar Homes
Architecture, Construction & Design

This 8,406-square-foot home at 9276 Niwot Hills Drive in Niwot is on the market for $2,175,000. Million-dollar home sales have been strong this year in the Boulder Valley despite a decline in the overall housing market.

Million-dollar home sales ride out market downturn

BY DAVID CLUCAS
Staff Writer

Boulder County's highest-priced homes have yet to feel the brunt of the nation's housing slowdown.

The number of local million-dollar homes sold during the first half of 2007 has soared 60 percent, compared to two years ago — the height of the national housing boom. Million-dollar homes sales increased from 78 during the first half of 2005 to 125 during the first half of 2007, according to the Boulder County Assessor's office.

Total new and existing home sales, meanwhile, have dropped 16 percent in Boulder County during the same period. A total of 3,075 homes were sold during the first half of 2005 versus 2,796 homes sold during the first half of 2007.

The figures suggest that local wealthy home buyers have been unaffected by the nation's recent housing troubles. It remains to be seen, however, whether this summer's decline on Wall Street will change that story. As the wealthy's million-dollar investment portfolios decline, so may too the sale of million-dollar homes.

Local Realtors say the area's million-dollar home market will remain strong.

"What's happened on Wall Street has affected sales here recently, but I think it's more hysteria than reality," said Karen Bernardi, president of The Bernardi Group, part of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage. "We still have a very strong economy in Colorado."

Bernardi said many wealthy home buyers have avoided the subprime and creative financing mess that is plaguing the lower ends of the market. The rich still have strong financials, they are getting loans, or simply paying in cash.

"The higher the totem pole, the better," said Joel Ripmaster, president of Colorado Landmark Realtors in Boulder. He said he sees high-end home sales up 40 percent this year.

"I think the upscale buyers aren't as affected by bad housing news," Ripmaster said. "The effect is that they may have to put a little more money down for a loan. That usually isn't a problem. Fifty percent of our upper-

Home sales: January through June

Through the first six months of 2007, new and existing home sales in Boulder County are down a combined 16 percent from the same period in 2005. But sales of homes $1 million and more are up 60 percent during the same span.

	2005	2006	2007	Change during period
New home sales	584	470	274	(53%)
Existing home sales	3,075	2,934	2,796	(9%)
New and existing million-dollar home sales	78	81	125	60%

* Existing home sales according to Boulder Area Realtor Association, new home sales according to Home Builders Research, million-dollar home sales according to Boulder County Assessor's office.

Community Calendar | 2008 |

Guide to year's major nonprofit, business events

The Boulder County Business Report, with partner sponsorships of The Community Foundation Serving Boulder County, Roche Colorado, Crispin Porter + Bogusky and Guaranty Bank & Trust, is proud to present the second annual 2008 Community Calendar.

Our annual Community Calendar, listing hundreds of the Boulder Valley's nonprofit fundraising and major business events, is designed to give residents and business leaders a single resource calendar to help plan their business and volunteer event activities in Boulder and Broomfield counties with as few conflicts as possible.

All appropriate listings available at press time were included. Our listings for this calendar were received in a survey of area nonprofits and business organizations. CU home football games also were included for event planners.

Nonprofits and business organizations are asked to add additional events and specific event times as they are scheduled throughout the year to the Business Report's online calendar at www.BCBR.com. Community Calendar additions and events for 2008 calendar also can be e-mailed to research@bcbr.com. In 2008, the Business Report plans to create a separate online Community Calendar for nonprofit events and major business events, separate from our online Business Calendar.

To qualify for Community Calendar, an event must include one or more of the following:

1. Benefit a nonprofit organization.
2. Attract more than 50 for nonprofit event.
3. Attract more than 100 for business event.
4. Have ticket price of $40 or more.

We do more than give money. We grow it.

In 2007, The Community Foundation distributed over $4 million to non-profit organizations in Boulder County and beyond. Annual giving is only part of our story. Our mission is to give for years to come. When individuals, entrepreneurs, and businesses invest in The Community Foundation, they are investing in Boulder County's future. This long-term focus has enabled The Community Foundation to give over $24 million to non-profits since 1991. And what's better than a gift that just keeps on growing?

FISH WHERE THE FISH ARE...

GOOD ADVICE FOR FISHING (AND ADVERTISING)

When you want to find fish, go where the fish are plentiful. The same principle holds true when you want to find business decision-makers: go where they are plentiful.

That's where we come in. By providing in-depth, local business news and by forming solid ties with our community, we've developed unparalleled reader loyalty among the key business decision-makers you want to reach. And, as a member of The Alliance, we can provide access to over 1.2 million business professionals in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Australia.

Advertise where business decision-makers are plentiful: contact the Boulder County Business Report today.

Been There. Won That.™

From coast to coast, Lathrop & Gage is now one of the nation's pre-eminent litigation firms.

CALIFORNIA Successfully defended our client, a global pet nutrition company, against claims of unfair labor practices arising out of the closure of a union-represented warehouse and outsourcing of work.

MINNESOTA Represented the present YRC Worldwide in an action brought by various tax protesters in the federal court. Successfully obtained judgment against the plaintiffs and an award of attorneys' fees.

ILLINOIS PARMELEE INDUSTRIES, INC. V. FENDALL, INC. Represented one of the country's largest manufacturers of protective safety prescription eyewear in a lengthy arbitration. Our litigators recovered more than $1.5 million in damages from a seller who misrepresented the value of its business.

MASSACHUSETTS Defended a 165-year-old financial services company in an insurance sales practice class action that alleged fraud, RICO, negligent misrepresentation, churning and similar claims. A motion to dismiss was granted for our client and was affirmed by the First Circuit Court of Appeals.

COLORADO Defended Yahoo!, the No. 1 global Internet brand and the most visited Internet destination worldwide, in a fraud and misrepresentation action by a former employee. Obtained a defense verdict in federal court.

TEXAS Represented Texas Tech University against a general contractor and architect in regards to defects in the United Spirit Arena. The client ultimately obtained a multimillion dollar settlement from the architect after discovery depositions.

KANSAS WYANDOTTE NATION V. GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION ET AL Defended an action brought against 3,000 property owners by the Wyandotte Nation Indian Tribe, which claimed original title to 1,920 acres of land in Kansas City, including the Fairfax Industrial District -- the site of industrial facilities for many Fortune 500 companies, including our client, the world's largest auto manufacturer. We obtained dismissal with prejudice in favor of our client and other defendants.

MISSOURI ARKY AND DEBBIE ROGERS V. PRODUCERS CREDIT CORP. Successfully represented our clients in the largest cattle fraud case in history, costing banks and investors $183 million. A federal jury awarded our clients, victims of the scheme, $4.2 million for breach of fiduciary duty.

GEORGIA Defended a major manufacturer against nine plaintiffs who alleged multiple constitutional and tort violations based on their terminations, which followed an undercover drug investigation at the workplace. Summary judgment on all counts was entered and affirmed by the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

RHODE ISLAND UNITED TECHNOLOGIES V. BFI Obtained defense judgment on partial findings after a nine-week trial regarding Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) contribution. The decision was affirmed on appeal.

VIRGINIA Represented SCX Acquisition and Franchising Group, LLC, a company that leased several hundred locations for automobile repair centers, against claims that it had breached its master lease.

NEW YORK Obtained a $3 million jury verdict for our client by successfully defending its patent for a new and useful de-icing and anti-icing formula. The jury found that the opposing party committed theft of trade secrets, unfair competition and breach of confidentiality.

Let's face it, the standard desk is not working for you... unless you're over 6 1/2 feet tall!

Your desk should be so much more than the block of wood that holds your computer and your "World's Best Golfer" coffee mug. Bend, crouch, lean, slump, strain, and reach. These are all the things we do to make our bodies fit our office furniture. You don't have to do them anymore. At Kare Products we design office furniture to fit YOU perfectly.

- Height adjustable desks for office and home
- Ergonomic chairs that fit a variety of body sizes and shapes
- Outstanding craftsmanship and exceptional customer service
- 25 years experience in ergonomics
- Knowledgeable product recommendations

MISSING: Cranky, late employees.

Since he signed his company on with the RTD Eco Pass bus pass program, this man's employees have been unusually chipper and on-time in the morning.

Though he now must share the chocolate donuts in the break room in the mornings, he's quite pleased that he found one more benefit to give his employees. After all, a sugar rush doesn't quite drive the bottom line as much as happy, stress-free workers.

What are you missing by not offering the Eco Pass?

HONEST EXPERT SERVICE

If you sell directly to business... advertise to business decision-makers.

The first rule of selling:
Make sure you're talking to the decision-maker. It's no different with advertising. If your message is not getting to the decision-maker you're wasting your money. That's our entire focus: We target Boulder and Broomfield counties' decision-makers. CEOs, company presidents, vice-presidents, leading attorneys and business owners read the Boulder County Business Report because it delivers regional business intelligence quickly, in an easy-to-read format. Business information they can't find anywhere else. Ask a Boulder County Business Report reader.

They'll tell you it's true.

We're all about business.
We're all about Boulder
& Broomfield Counties.
We're your market for success.

From Our Construction Design Sponsor ★ Boulder Green Building Guild

The Boulder Green Building Guild (BGBG) is an association of building professionals dedicated to promoting healthier, resource-efficient homes and work places. We strive to advance the craft of green building; support our members' environmentally-responsible endeavors; provide effective volunteer opportunities; and be the focal point for communication on green building. Our vision is to empower people to build healthy, resource-efficient communities.

In February 2004, a group of building professionals decided it was time to make a significant, positive impact on the Boulder community. Although each of the professionals contributed to green building individually by creating high quality, durable structures, they realized that their ability to build green homes and work places was limited by the lack of available and affordable green building products in addition to misinformed homeowners and building professionals whom they worked with on a daily basis. The Boulder Green Building Guild thus formed to fill this education gap. We reasoned that if people understood the tangible benefits of green building, why would anyone build anything below this standard? After all, green building is simply good building!

Today BGBG is a vibrant and growing organization, offering monthly brown bag and roundtable discussions on cutting-edge green building issues and techniques, tours of green homes, discount packages on advertising, many networking and volunteer opportunities, and more.

Join us in our pursuit. Visit www.bgbg.org, download and read the Boulder Green Building Journal, and plug into our many programs, workshops, and discussions aimed at advancing the craft and sharing practical wisdom in matters genuinely green.

LIZ MAJORS AND HER DAUGHTER ANNE WITH THEIR DOG KELLY IN THEIR ARVADA, CO CARUSO KITCHEN

Liz Majors and her daughter Anne love to cook and entertain. But it was a challenge in the cramped kitchen of their 50-year-old home. With Anne in a wheelchair, a remodel was in order to widen the space and make it easier for her to move around, so Liz went to Caruso Kitchens.

"For years I clipped kitchen photos from home decorating magazines," said Liz. "My Caruso Kitchens designer, Kim, understood that I wanted a classic, timeless design," said Liz.

Kim also included convenient extras that are within reach of Anne's wheelchair – a lower refrigerator drawer, a knee area below the sink and counter, and even a pull-out shelf for the tv media center.

"I absolutely love it," Liz enthuses, "I thought I'd find inspiration in the magazines, but I never thought I'd have a magazine kitchen!"

Now she truly does.

At Caruso Kitchens, our mission is to create beautiful, livable spaces that fit your unique life and style. And we're proud to have our clients speak on our behalf. Call us at 303-KITCHEN or visit one of our showrooms today and let us design a kitchen for your life.

Email: David@Chrismanconstruction.com

David Jensen's criteria for building anything from a piece of furniture to a multi-story building are: plan well and you won't have a punch list at the end of the project. David is Chief Operations Officer and Senior Project Manager; and wears many hats at Chrisman Construction, Inc. (CCI). He is tireless as CCI's general business manager, estimator, client and designer liaison, and supervisor to job superintendents. Chrisman Construction is a general contracting company that performs project management and design-build in commercial and industrial construction in Boulder County. CCI specializes in construction of new buildings, tenant finish, remodeling of existing facilities, and custom residential projects. Owner's Jim and Susan Chrisman rely on David to manage employees and subcontractors that help create all projects from start to finish. David's career in construction began at CSU with his B.S. Degree in Industrial Sciences and Technology. Highly motivated, he built his own construction business from 1985 to 1995. Since then David has been the force behind the construction of many landmark buildings, tenant finishes and improvements of Chrisman Construction clients; including Leanin' Tree, Northrop Grumman, and AeroGrow. David supports the American Cancer Society by donating time and effort to the East Boulder County Relay for Life. David's hobbies include crafting custom furniture from wood, metal, and other natural products, and slalom water skiing with friends and family. CCI is celebrating twenty-three years of construction excellence in 2008. Jim and Susan Chrisman wish to thank David for his efforts and his influence in their business. They also wish to thank their clients and subcontractors for their commitment, and wish you all a great year!

OBJECTIVE: A HEALTHY QUARTERLY REPORT

The right mix of health plan options can mean a sweeter bottom line. All the more reason to go with Kaiser Permanente. We've got you covered with choices like HMO, PPO, POS, deductible/coinsurance, and plans with HSA options. Best of all, Kaiser Permanente is committed to total health, with preventive programs, online tools—even alternative therapies—all to help your employees lead healthier lives. With fewer sick days and higher productivity. How sweet is that? Log on to kp.org/productportfolio, contact your broker, or call 303-338-3700 (Denver and Boulder) or 719-867-2100 (Colorado Springs) to speak with a Kaiser Permanente representative today.

From Our Real Estate Sponsor ★ Colorado Group Known For Innovation

As The Colorado Group enters its 28th year in business, its success and longevity can be summed up in a simple statement – Being Connected. The brokers at The Colorado Group know that establishing and maintaining good long-term relationships in the Boulder and Broomfield communities ultimately helps their clients save money and time. The Colorado Group’s relationship network means they have connections with property buyers, sellers, landlords and tenants as well as all of the professionals necessary to create successful real estate transactions.

“Real estate transactions are complicated – nothing is going to change that,” said Danny Lindau, president of The Colorado Group. “We excel at reducing complication by knowing the right people and the right timing. Connecting our clients with our vast network of professionals allows us to guide them through transactions quickly and efficiently. We are connected to the community at every level.”

The Colorado Group’s understanding of the importance of good community relations goes way beyond business relationships. Many of the brokers are heavily involved in community and charitable endeavors.

“We truly believe in the word ‘community,’” Lindau continued. “The Boulder/Broomfield community has made us successful, and we want to return the favor.”

Founded in 1980, The Colorado Group is a full-service real estate brokerage, providing services in commercial and residential sales, commercial leasing, property management, investment and development. The Colorado Group represents sales and lease transactions of more than $100 million annually.

Join the area's fastest-growing companies at the 2008 Mercury 100!

Sponsor the Mercury 100!

Why Sponsor?

Here is a great opportunity to meet companies that have shown significant two-year growth. The time to establish relationships with these companies is when they're on the way up and need professional help with financial management, human resources, marketing, computer networking, expanding real estate needs, etc.

Bonus Exposure!

At the Mercury 100 Event, you will have a booth to showcase your company, logo on all signage, introduction from the stage, your name in the Top 100 countdown video and much more. Sponsorship includes high-impact advertising in the May 9, 2008 issue featuring the fastest-growing companies and all advertising leading to the event.

The BEST way to meet your next client and show your company is a key player in the Boulder Valley business community is to sponsor the Mercury 100 event!

for the faint of heart.

It does not suffer fools.
It will not allow you to catch your breath.
It will accept no excuses.

To make it takes decisive, bold action.
Action based on knowledge.
Not last week's, not yesterday's, but today's.

Knowledge from the lifeline of business.
In-depth analysis. Reliable, timely information.
Relevant data, trends and mergers.
Direct interaction.

Only one source holds the pulse. Whose only business is business.
Where more successful companies, more savvy executives, more bold entrepreneurs get the knowledge they need, when they need it.
Through print publications, e-mail newsletters, Web data services, conferences and event networking. Do you have what it takes?

Fuser solves e-mail overload problem
Polis-funded startup gathers communications into one Web page
BY CAROL SCHWARTZ ELLIS
Boulder — A new downtown Boulder company has a solution to your e-mail overload problem. No, Fuser won't read it for you, but it will do the next best thing: It will "fuse" all those e-mail accounts — work, Gmail, Hotmail, Yahoo, etc. — onto one Web page so you can read and respond to them from any Web-enabled computer in the world.
The startup is headed and chaired by Janet Fink, the Boulder-based deep-pocketed serial entrepreneur who made her millions buying and selling blueprints.com and TheFreespace.com, all before the age of 30. This also is a Democratic candidate for Colorado's second Congressional District.
Polis launched the company as Conference Commons in April 2006, but according to Jeff Herman, chief operating officer and chief technology officer, the preferred name today is Fuser. The company will likely keep the same Conference Commons and do business as Fuser, he said.
Herman is no stranger to Web-based startups. He moved them away from his position as vice president of operations at network security software provider Webroot, and prior to that he was with digital content provider NetLibrary, both are Boulder-based companies.
Fuser is in "closed beta" — more or less now open — he said.

Cycling groups find roads work well for networking

BY DOUG MCPHERSON
Business Report Correspondent

BOULDER — If you're ever heading north on Highway 36 on a Wednesday morning and you see a pack of about 30 bicyclists huffing and puffing their way along the roadside, take note — that's not just exercise, it's a business meeting.

The riders aren't worried about their waistlines; they're much more concerned about their bottom lines. They are entrepreneurs, venture capitalists, investors, accountants and lawyers, and they're all making deals on wheels.

Ed Messman, managing director of Hercules Technology Growth Capital Inc., a Silicon Valley-based tech venture capital firm with offices Boulder, started the biking group in 2000.

"It just seemed like golf networking events were everywhere, and there wasn't anything different. Boulder needed something unique," Messman said. "One day I realized just how many bicyclists Boulder has and thought it would be a good way to network. I wanted to create something new."

Whether biking and networking is new or not, Messman's group clearly has caught on. "It was small and informal when I started it. (It was) about five people, and now we have about 100 riders," he said. "It was pretty viral, lots of word of mouth and e-mails. People started talking about this group that would get out and ride on Wednesday mornings."

“Sometimes we talk about business, but it is primarily about getting some exercise, having fun and solidifying relationships. It also gives us an excuse to have a beer together afterward.”

John Marcil
CORPORATE PARTNER,
FAEGRE & BENSON LLP

Messman said between 30 and 40 show up every Wednesday at 6:30 a.m. between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

The group typically meets at Amante, a coffee shop in North Boulder. They ride for an hour, often north on Highway 36, returning to Amante for breakfast. Businesses take turns sponsoring the breakfast.

Messman said during the rides, bicyclists often talk business. "I'll be riding along and look back and think, 'I haven't talked to him in a while, I need to check with him on this or that,'" Messman said. "Or someone's looking for a particular service and I say, 'Go up and talk to Bob in the bright yellow jersey.'"

Terry Malouf, founder of T. Malouf & Company, an executive search firm in Denver, frequently conducts

DEALS ON WHEELS

Cycling serves as a networking opportunity for many businesspeople in the Boulder Valley. Dan Cutter, Eric Long, Russ Chandler and Ed Messman take a networking ride along the back roads of Boulder County.

business on her bike. She doesn't actively pitch her company's services while biking; however, she does discuss pending or future engagements with clients.

"I also like to take notice of those who are a cut above and have backgrounds that sync with our clients' businesses," Malouf said. "They may be potential future candidates, and candidates often become future clients."

John Marcil, a corporate partner in the Boulder law firm of Faegre & Benson LLP, rides with co-workers and clients on Wednesdays after work during the summer. "Well, it's not like we are carrying engagement letters in our jersey pockets," Marcil said. "Sometimes we talk about business, but it is primarily about getting some exercise, having fun and solidifying relationships. It also gives us an excuse to have a beer together afterward."

He added that Boulder is a "really special place" for cyclists.

"There are few places in the country where you can get dropped by a professional cyclist and an octogenarian in the same ride," he said.

Thomas Prehn, president of Boulder Sports Research LLC, a research firm that covers the cycling, outdoor and fitness markets, believes bicycling is growing in Boulder and Colorado, "from the mayor of Boulder to Gov. (Bill) Ritter, to even some of our congressmen in Washington."

Prehn said he commonly makes deals while on a bike. "Whenever I can ride and meet, it's great. Even with some of my staff. I would rather jump on a bike and have a conversation."

More senior-level executives are riding these days. > See Deals, 28A

Beyond the Ordinary

Heritage Todd Creek Golf Club features the design of prestigious golf course architect Arthur Hills to provide an exceptional site for hosting your next tournament or outing. The thoughtful craftsmanship of the 7,435 yard championship golf course compliments the native contours of the surrounding Rocky Mountain landscape and offers five sets of tees to create a challenging round of golf.

Enjoy the newly opened 32,000 square-foot Clubhouse for hosting post tournament receptions and award banquets which can accommodate up to 240 guests. Our team of event planning experts and PGA professional staff are seasoned at coordinating events with the utmost attention to detail to ensure its success.
